

Did you know?

Our Kombucha, a fermented tea is rich in probiotics like Lactobacillys and Bifidobacterium. With every bottle, you are sipping in 7.25 Lakh (725,000) live colony forming units (CFUs) of these little warriors.

Most of the sugar we add is digested by these little brewers and produce a lot of good stuff for your gut health. Our kombucha contains less than 1 teaspoon (7 gm) of sugar in every bottle. The sweetness of the drink comes from an acid called glucuronic acid created by these little fellas which supports detoxification of body per new research

These little buggers are good for you, dead or alive. Even if these microbes die, they produce compounds critical for reducing inflammation, supporting immune system etc.
